AMELIA C. WILLIAMS, a bi-racial mixed media artist creates immersive street inspired pop art pieces, deconstructing cartoon style illustration using a variety of materials such as acrylics, canvas, rope, photos, vintage comic strips, Playboys, and found objects.

As a woman of mixed race, her perspective encapsulates the complexities of stress and confusion caused by her racial identity. Often feeling like an impostor in her own skin, she conveys genuine thoughts, reflections, and frustrations through raw imagery, employing text and dramatized characterizations in paintings, sculptures, photos and video.

Amelia skillfully juxtaposes elements of emo culture from the early 2000s—capturing the innocence and passion of first love—with illustrated depictions of chaotic, obsessive attachments fueled by trauma, anxiety, and depression. She seamlessly weaves in pop-culture references, using lyrics and quotes from diverse sources to highlight the shared connection of these stripped-down emotions.

Greetings! From the Lovebugs is the immersive exhibition opening party in collaboration with Adventure, a local punk/rock band. Each event features a curated live set by Adventure, a DJ, food pop-ups, drinks, and a flash tattoo parlor.

We prioritize BIPOC vendors, fostering a truly inclusive space. Beyond showcasing Amelia C. Williams' work, the goal is to uplift BIPOC artists, providing a platform for their talents and future paid opportunities.

has squandered
my potential?

~~I thought that I was dreamin' what you said~~ You love me
~~and my heart don't close my eyes~~ underneath the moonlight now

~~you been holding your breath~~ weighted down
~~and we outside of the things~~ perfect

Did you call me from a seance ??

~~it don't even seem like to feel important~~

Darling this only worsens

~~you dream of walls that hold us imprisoned~~

Some nights you dance with fears in your eyes silence in the ears

she started to be crazy!!!

~~to be alive on this side~~

(you could've held my hand through this baby)

it's just a fond farewell to a friend

I'll keep quiet ~~and let you run your phone bill~~

~~give you just tonight~~

DOES SCHOOL

~~Caffeine?~~

~~Alcohol~~
